

ESTHETIC REHABILITATION OF PATIENT USING PORCELAIN VENEERS: A SERIES OF 3 CASE REPORTS

1. Dr.Ashishkumar Rathod,

Post graduate student,

Dept.of Prosthodontics,

Bharati Vidyapeeth Deemed University Dental College

Pune.

2. Dr.Prachi Bhatia

Post graduate student,

Dept.of Prosthodontics,

Bharati Vidyapeeth Deemed University Dental College,

Pune.

3. Dr. N. Vasantha Vijayaraghavan. M.D.S

Associate Professor,

Dept.of Prosthodontics,

Bharati Vidyapeeth Deemed University Dental College,

Pune.

4. Dr.Divya Prakash,

Consultant Prosthodontist,

Private Practice,

Pune.

Corresponding Author :Dr.Ashishkumar Rathod

Rathod537@gmail.com

Abstract

Porcelain Veneers have become an essential treatment modality today for esthetic problems of teeth. It is used in treatment of fractured, malposed teeth, teeth with diastema, discoloured or pitted teeth. Porcelain Veneers are a conservative treatment modality but proper case selection is mandatory for successful outcome of the restoration. In this article three different case reports have been described with diastema, peg laterals and discoloured anteriors and use of porcelain veneers for their restoration.

Key words : Porcelain, veneers, diastema, discoloured teeth, peg laterals